iW

iWAREHOUSE Evolution provides a scalable telematics solution for businesses looking to effectively manage and report on operator and powered industrial vehicle performance while reducing operational costs and improving productivity.

iWAREHOUSE Evolution provides tools for warehouse managers to promote operator accountability, monitor impacts, maintain records for compliance, and report on utilization metrics for their industrial vehicle fleet, operators and batteries. Advanced functionality such as maintenance cost tracking, load sensing, task selection, labor management system integration and professional services are available to take your operations to the next level of enterprise warehouse optimization.

iWAREHOUSE®

FLEET AND WAREHOUSE OPTIMIZATION

STANDARD FEATURES

» Access Control & Compliance

With iWAREHOUSE, the system is configurable such that before operators drive a truck, they must log into the truck and complete an electronic inspection checklist at the start of their shift. The system also records and stores inspection data with date/time stamps and operator names, ensuring compliance with OSHA requirements.

» Impact Management

Immediate impact notification via email or text message identifying which truck and operator have been involved in an incident. The system can even be programmed to limit the truck's travel speed after an event. The result is greater operator accountability, lower costs related to truck repairs and damaged inventory and racking, and a more productive operating environment.

» Control & Metrics

iWAREHOUSE puts warehouse managers in the driver's seat by allowing them to remotely adjust truck and operator parameters, monitor the status of batteries, and track total fleet performance.

OPTIMIZATION SYSTEM

ADVANCED FUNCTIONALITY (optional)

» Fleet Optimization

iWAREHOUSE is a comprehensive telematics solution that utilizes a unique single web portal through which managers can view and analyze usage data and performance metrics of powered industrial vehicles and operators.

» Warehouse Optimization

iWAREHOUSE provides operational visibility, from an individual truck to a complete fleet, and from one warehouse to multiple locations. It helps managers develop actionable business solutions to increase asset utilization, drive out inefficiencies and optimizes operations. In addition, it integrates with select labor management systems to increase productivity and reduce operating costs.

» Tailored Consulting Services

To help enterprises get the most out of their warehouses and fleet optimization systems, our professional services group stands ready to help managers use iWAREHOUSE to its fullest advantage, and make the smart warehouse a profitable reality.

Maximize Warehouse Space, Productivity

Maximize Space

Our experienced Project Management Team collaborates with the customer to fully understand their operational needs, preferences and company culture. The information is used to help develop design and technology that will optimize their specific model. Because distribution is a dynamic industry, the team may develop multiple design concepts, each of which includes a cost benefit analysis.

Our services include:

- › Conveyor system design
- › Warehouse layout redesign to gain space and improve warehouse productivity
- › Layout of rack and shelving
- › Use of vertical or horizontal carousels to maximize space

When designing picking and replenishment methodologies, maximizing the available space is always the primary goal. We feel it is also important to identify and consider any potential trade-offs in material flow and productivity. It is our mission to provide customers with complete facility design services.

Increase Productivity

Through the review of key data (order metrics and SKU velocity reports) Raymond Handling Solutions' benchmarking studies identify ways to improve an operation's productivity. A team of Raymond Handling Solutions engineers and designers collaborate with the customer to develop solutions that best meet their operational needs and support future growth. Our areas of expertise include:

- › Order fulfillment
- › Returns centers
- › Packing and shipping
- › Manufacturing and assembly operations

As a systems integrator representing a variety of quality manufacturing partners, our systems utilize proven components that are assembled into a complete solution. Using pre-tested components ensures low-risk implementation and guarantees the long-term support of our Service and Parts Departments.
